ENGLISH GIRL
FARMERS WILL TOUR
THROUGH CANADA

Through the generosity of Sir Henry Thornton, K. B. E., president of the Canadian National Railway, four girl-members of the Daily Mail Young Farmers' Clubs will have the opportunity of touring through Canada, which will be of great value to them from an educational standpoint.

With no expense to their parents they will cross the Atlantic and tour Canada from east to west, stopping at all the most important farming centres visiting some of the agricultural fairs and also taking the summer course at one of the agricultural colleges in the western provinces.

The tour will probably commence in May and end in October.

Peopon will build you up after the flu $1.50 at Wainwright Pharmacy.

LOCAL NOTES

Give us your special seed orders. We sell at catalogue prices—Wainwright Pharmacy.

All members of the Rebekah degree are reminded of the regular meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall tomorrow (Thursday) evening.

Our apologies to Mr. W. A. Brown of Edmonton, who is still general superintendent of western lines of the Canadian National Railways. Through being mis-informed our last issue stated that the area of his supervision was to be curtailed in the general shake-up of officials which has taken place, but we learn now that such is not the case.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. A. Plater met with a nasty accident during the week. It appears that while jumping from the hay rack which he was using, the team gave a lurch and threw Mr. Plater between the boards of the rack causing him some painful body bruises. He is getting along nicely.

Tractor Owners, Attention.—Before placing your order for Oil (with C. O. D. & freight added) come over and see our samples. Special 92c per gal. Extra heavy, $1.10 per gal. The best that money can buy.—Imperial Oil Co., W. C. Bowen, agent.

RESTRICTIONS ARE PLACED ON LOANS FOR SEED GRAIN

Special Legislation is being passed by Alberta Parliament

Seed grain advances by authorities other than the province are to be regulated by a special Act now before the legislature, thus being officially known as an Act to Facilitate the Borrowing of Money for the Purchase of Seed Grain, copies of which were distributed in the house Monday afternoon.

Under this new measure municipalities will be empowered to make advances under certain restrictions for the purchase of seed grain, and other mortgages will also be enabled to make such advances under conditions said to be more satisfactory than in the past.

Under the latter provision municipalities will be able to advance funds for the purchase of seed and have such sums covered by registration in the land titles office both as to principal and interest which become a portion of the original mortgage. It also gives the usual lien on the crop. It has been pointed out that in many cases mortgages are anxious to advance funds for seedling purposes, but claim that hitherto they have not been sufficiently protected by legislation.

The attention of our readers is drawn to the notice calling a town meeting at the Council chamber to night (Wednesday) for the purpose of discussing matters connected with the fire heads. This is a matter which should interest every ratepayer, and a large attendance is looked for. Get there early!

Minimum Wage Act Suspended

With respect to certain classes of female employees, the order of the Alberta Minimum Wage Board establishing a minimum weekly wage of $14 has been suspended, and instead of coming into force on April 1, will not be in force until September 1, according to announcement by A. G. Brown, chairman of the board. The classes of employees affected are those in manufacturing establishments, laundries, cleaning and dye works and shops and stores.

Export Houses Close March 15

Prohibition of export of liquor from Alberta will be in effect after March 15, since the order-in-council closing export warehouses in this province, was passed at Ottawa, following request from the Alberta government. The proclamation is based on the act passed last session by the Ottawa house.

According to the Dominion Government Bureau of Statistics the average value of occupied farm land in Alberta including improved and unimproved land and buildings, was $24 an acre for the year 1922. The average value of farm land in Alberta during the summer season of 1922, including board, was $64 for men and $45 for women.

CHILD PROTECTION ACT IS REPORTED FOR THIRD READING

The number of persons who may lay a charge under the act is limited to the mother, the next friend or guardian, and the superintendent of neglected children of the province.

It is expected that the estimates will be introduced to the house during the coming week.

DIAMOND BED IS DISCOVERED IN B. C.

Vancouver.—A bed of diamonds, equal in purity to Brazilian diamonds, and varying in size from one to three carats, has been discovered by Harry W. Oakley, of Campbell River, B. Mr. Oakley has sold several of the stones at $25 a carat.

BAND BENEFIT NIGHT AT RINK POOR ATTENDANCE

It is surely exhibiting a very poor community spirit when such a small attendance as turned out at the rink on Thursday evening last to witness the broomball game, is the best we can do by way of a benefit night for the band boys.

Those lovers of skating and ice sport in general have not been slow to take advantage of the use of the rink on Tuesday nights through the winter when the band has given their service to the rink freely, and yet when a "big night" is staged by them for assistance in the provision of music, etc., only a "corpsal's guild" were there with their quarters to help so worthy a project.

It is certainly a sorry thing to contemplate, but we hear rumors that unless this purely local organization is able to feel that they have better backing than has been extended to them heretofore, there is a great likelihood that they will disband, and then through the summer season when such an attraction is necessary—such as fairs, parades, etc.—possibly good money in large amounts will have to be sent out of town to replace what, by their apathy, our citizens are now letting slip out unnoticed!

The receipts on Thursday amounted to—were ashamed to mention it!

CLAIM BOUNTIES SHOULD BE PAID FOR ALBERTA OIL

Ottawa.—Claims of Alberta oil producers to a share in the federal bounties were urged in the house of commons by L. H. Jeffitt, Progressive, of Lethbridge, who argued that while Ontario received some $90,000 in bounties, and New Brunswick nearly $4,000 nothing was being paid to Alberta.

Hon. J. H. Robb, minister of trade and commerce, stated he had received certain representations from Mr. Jeffitt in regard to the encouragement of oil production in Alberta and the answer of the government would be given in the budget speech. The reason for the non-payment of bounties on Alberta oil was that the bounty was based on specific gravity. Where oil was not of a standard to earn a bounty, it was otherwise protected under the tariff.

BRITISH FARMERS IN MANY DISTRICTS NEED STORE CATTLE

A newspaper cable dispatch says that British farmers in many districts are very short of store cattle just now and would welcome suitable supplies from anywhere. It is naturally hoped that Canada will be able to supply at least a large part of the deficiency, but to take possession of the opportunity here offered, and to create something like a permanent impression, the cattle furnished, as the Dominion Live Stock Branch sets forth must be of good type, well-fleshed, and with the breeding necessary to take on the proper finish. The animals should be under three years of age and weigh not less than 1000 pounds.

In connection with the situation here mentioned it is worth while repeating the six factors given by the Agricultural Department at Ottawa as a necessity in profitable beef raising, namely: Use of pure-bred bulls; dehorning of the cattle; bringing to early maturity; selling as few cattle as possible in the fall; winter finishing in as far as possible; distribute marketings. Regarding the last of these counsels the Department further says: "It is a striking fact that half the cattle sold in Canada each year are put on the market in the four months. Suitable unfinished stock should be carried over for winter finishing. A spread of 15c to 2c per pound between fall and spring prices, enough to warrant, without wishing. The British market should be winter finishing double profitable."

Mrs. Peterson and family were guests over the week end at the home of Mrs. J. W. Stuart.

And They Said He Wasn't Needed

By Fred C. Kelly

If a man wants a certain job and there isn't any such job, or the place isn't open and the best he receives is assurance of having his application placed on file.

What I started to say was that if a man feels discouraged about getting the job he wants, let him take cheer from what happened to Leonard Ayres, here of an astonishing, experiment in the neglected field of being useful where not needed.

Ayres is a statistician. Indeed, as vice-president of the Cleveland Trust Company, he is probably the highest salaried statistician in the world. His greatest fame, as a statistician, however, grew out of our fuss with Germany. In 1917 when this country went to war, Ayres, a mild-mannered, little blond man, director of the educational division of the Russell Sage Foundation, reasoned something like this:

"Here's going to be the biggest doings the world ever saw, and I want to be in on 'em. Surely, there must be a tremendous opportunity in a big war like this for a man of my trade. I'm going to be a war statistician."

The title came in handy. The next day he was in Washington humbly lurking about first one war office and then another, waiting for young college boys and others who had become captains, majors, or dollar-a-year men, to listen to his offers of assistance. Without a single dissenting vote everybody expressed the opinion that a statistician was the very thing that they needed everything else but.

Ayres' ambition seemed particularly hopeless because of his lack of commanding personality. He couldn't jinx his way into the councils of the mighty on his looks. Even at that time he had already achieved more distinction than comes to most people, but not in a spectacular way, and there is ing about his appearance to make false that he is anybody in particular. A meek-looking, under-sized Ayres, with innocent blue eyes, might take him for a restaurant waiter in a small harness and feed small wonder he didn't make pression on the unimaginative h whom he mostly had to deal, told that they didn't need a statistician. It was not the slightest sign on Leonard Ayres, for he they did. He went right at the plans to land the job he don't need a statistician," ne of the head men in the National Defense, "just a word."

"I'm me thing," he was told, "I'm young fellow just to help

Dr. Ayres, he division of sta- long possessed a of philosophy, but he had left that it be of any prac- var on, and titles t pay no heed to might take seriously Dr.

Ayres. He told Perching. The next day somebody noticed that there was a division of statistics and sent back an inquiry involving a tedious investigation that nobody else seemed keen about undertaking. Ayres hustled about and got the desired information. Other inquiries came, about the extent of certain phrases of preparation and Ayres discovered the basic principle of gathering information.

Before long Ayres had collected more information about our state of preparation than was possessed by anybody else. He prepared a highly confidential report twice each week and made four copies of it which he personally ground-out on an old chattering typewriter. These four copies were sent to the Director of the Council of National Defense, the chief of Staff of Army the Secretary of War, and the War Industries Board. Now, sometimes a thing doesn't need to be very confidential report twice each week and made four copies of it which he personally ground-out on an old chattering typewriter.

prepare all sorts of statistic divisions of the General Staff of the Army. The General Staff decided that his work was of too confidential a nature to be performed by a civilian, and that he must be in uniform, subject to military control.

General Perching had become so impressed with Ayres' statistical charts of the progress of the war that he kept calling for more information from him and finally ordered him to come to France as chief statistical officer of the American Expeditionary Force. After the armistice, Ayres became chief statistical officer of the American Commission to Negotiate Peace. He was decorated with a Distinguished Service Medal. One incidental job was the preparation of a book, "The War with Germany," which shows in brief space by graphs and charts exactly what America did in the war and shows it more clearly than any other book that has been written.

Considering the humble manner in which Ayres was obliged to pry his way into the war, without any running start, when they all told him they didn't need a statistician, I submit that his war record isn't half bad.

Why He Simplified the Speller.

Ayres was famous in a way before the war started—though none of his achievements had never reached any of the men to whom he applied for a chance to take off his coat and go to work.

To begin with, after being a theatre scene shifter, he attained fame, back in the late 90's as a professional bicycle rider. He could show either speed or fancy stunts. One day, in a driving rainstorm, he did so many miles that if I were to tell you just how far he rode, you would put Ayres and me each down for a liar. With no motive other than the search for adventure he drifted down to Porto Rico and got a job teaching school. In 1902 he was just an ordinary 6th teacher; four years later he was general superintendent of a school in Porto Rico. You see, even in those days, Ayres was a terribly difficult little fellow to keep down.

From Porto Rico Ayres went to New York to become educational director of the Russell Sage Foundation and it was there that he performed a feat which revolutionized the teaching of spelling. It occurred to him that if a youngster in school studied words that he would often use in after years, instead of words that were merely difficult and seldom encountered, the information thus gained might eventually come in handy. He learned that 10 percent of all the words we write are repetitions of the and, and, nine common words make up one-fourth of all we use and nine-tenths of all the words ordinarily employed by an average individual may be found in a list of one thousand. Every spelling book published since Ayres' investigation has its contents based on which words are most needed instead of which are most difficult.

Ayres' monograph, "Laggards in our school," in which he showed that the average youngster left school without completing even the sixth grade, started an uproar in the educational world. Few would believe that conditions were as bad as Ayres' calm, cold figures indicated. But the result of the controversy was that during the ten years following, some five million more children in the United States completed the grammar grades than would have done so under the old conditions.

Two or three years ago Ayres went from the Russell Sage Foundation to become vice-president of the Cleveland Trust Company and shifted his statistical talents from education to economics.

One of his economic studies contains charts, one showing the weather in a city, picked at random, during four years, and another showing the rise and fall of prices of industrial stocks. The astonishing feature of these two charts is that they look almost identical. Yet the weather in one city could have had no influence on the price of stocks; Ayres' point was simply that what is true of weather is also true of the stock market. On the hottest day in several years, one may be reasonably certain that within a few hours the temperature will be lower.

Likewise, on a record-breaking cold day, one may soon expect it to be warm or, similarly, when stocks are the highest or lowest they have been in years, it is logical to expect a movement in the opposite direction. Many investors are fooled by stocks when an exceptionally high or low point is reached.

Ayres was the only man in the United States, as far as I know, who fore-saw the record-breaking year that the automobile industry was to enjoy, beginning in 1921. His method of arriving at the facts was startlingly simple. He found out first what is the least a man can earn and keep a car. Then he found out how many persons in the country earn that much or more. This, and the reduced prices of cars, served as the basis of the calculations.

No statistical job is too big or too trivial for Ayres to tackle. He has made a study of the relations between band music and the speed of six-day hockey races.

Early in February, 1922, after a study of price movements in the past, Ayres predicted that bonds would reach their maximum price some time in the following September. Now, it is one thing to make a prediction and whisper it quietly to one of two friends, but Ayres, had such confidence in his figures that he put his prediction into type and made it public. Bonds did reach their highest price on September 15. Imagine the value to a bank and its customers of having such information in advance.

Three years ago the world of finance was entirely new to Ayres. Consequently he was able to study price trends with an open mind, and to reduce his facts to their simplest terms. One of his most astonishing discoveries is that there is available for any small investor a fairly dependable barometer of what may be expected in the stock market. This barometer is the interest rate on short-time loans by banks—sixty and ninety-day money loaned to business men. When the interest rate for such loans is higher than the interest rate on bonds, stock prices may be expected to drop. At the time of this writing the rate for short-time loans in New York is 4 1/2 percent. When this reaches the level of the rate on industrial long-time bond the cost of doing business will be so high that profits will be reduced. When profits are reduced dividends drop and stock prices naturally drop also. Any one may use this barometer profitably to figure out when to dispose of his stock holdings.

Another study was of the relative wearing qualities of four fifty-cent neckties against one at $2; also, how a pair of $10 shoes wear in comparison with two pairs of $5 shoes. Whenever he goes to a public meeting he follows a habit of timing each speaker and figuring out how many minutes of talk were required for each idea.

The best time for grabbing bright ideas as they fit through space Ayres finds, is just before he gets out of bed in the morning and while shaving.

He is likely to sit at breakfast even with his best friends and mull over something that has just occurred to him, uttering never a word. Much of his work he does at night—between 8 p. m. and 3 a. m. He is as hard to get to bed or out of bed as a boy.

When working or reading he smokes large black cigars—many of them. At bedtime in a friend's home he happened to pick up a book that interested him. An onlooker might have seen him place six cigars, efficiently, in a neat row beside him where he could reach them with the minimum of effort. He was fixed for the night.

Being a clear thinker, Ayres writes wonderfully clear copy—not clear in the sense of being merely neat, but of having scarcely any corrections or erasures. He's a bachelor and his living quarters are always as neat and orderly as his copy.

THE COW AND THE SOW AND THE HEN

George Spence, Saskatchewan M. L. A., in speaking at the Saskatchewan Dairy convention on "The Importance of Dairying and its place on the grain farm of the Southwest," expressed in terse language the situation with regard to the necessity for balanced farming on the prairies when he stated:

It is practically impossible to make a success on a cowless, sowless, henless farm."

When the San Francisco Earthquake, first shook the buildings down, then destroyed the water mains, so that the water supply was shut off, then the fire started and destroyed more property than any fire has ever destroyed.

Many Insurance Companies, realizing it means possibly bankruptcy, were looking for a way to escape their liability.

The ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF LONDON ENGLAND, wired their San Francisco Agents to PAY EVERY LOSS IN FULL. This saved the property owners as the other larger Companies had no choice but to fall into line.

WINNIPEG'S HISTORICAL MUSEUM

1 and 2—Corners in the Hudson's Bay Company's historical museum at Winnipeg. 3—An old-fashioned turn-spit, on which for many years the roasts were cooked at the H.B.C. port at York Factory. 4—A model of the "Nonsuch," the ship that brought the first H.B.C. adventurers to Canada.

FOR a comparatively young city, Winnipeg has many points of interest. None is more worthy of a visit than the historical museum that has been established by the Hudson's Bay Company.

The great company's history is the history of Canada's West, and no institution is better equipped to present the earliest history of that land in the manner that the Hudson's Bay Company has chosen.

The value of museums as an educational agency is now only beginning to be more generally realized. What book or series of books could give so comprehensive, so vivid or so unfailingly correct a view of the world's past ages as a few days spent among the treasures of the British Museum. The idea grows in Canada as educational facilities grow. McGill University has its fine museum and the Royal Ontario Museum at Toronto, it will surprise many to know, is one of the world's finest. Its already splendid buildings, soon to be enlarged, is overcrowded with a wonderful store of historic treasures which visiting scholars from abroad never fail to visit.

The object of the Winnipeg exhibit is to depict by means of relics, pictures, documents, models, etc., the history of the Hudson's Bay Company, the life of the fur trade, the story of the pioneer settlers and the customs, dress and industries of the aboriginal tribes. The exhibit is at present set up at the company's store at Winnipeg, and while not nearly as large as it may be expected to become, already occupies a series of rooms in that establishment.

The following principal divisions of the exhibit have been made for convenience: Early History, Furs, Indians, Life in the Service, Fairs, Posts, and Stores, Fights and Wars, Land and Settlement.

From the time the natives of Hudson Bay welcomed the first H.B.C. ship in 1688 the Company has been an intimate and friendly partner with the Indians, and the exhibit of Indian relics will thus be of unique interest. This will be of all the greater value since Indian skill in handicraft is even now almost only a memory of past days. The other sections of the museum will tell the tale of the entry of the white man into the West, and the up-building of isolated trading posts that have become important and fast growing cities.

The photographs reproduced here will give an excellent idea of the splendid beginning this exhibit has in the splendidly built model of the "Nonsuch Ketch," the first Hudson's Bay Company ship to arrive in Canadian waters. Prince Rupert and associates outfitted two ships, the "Eagle" and the "Nonsuch." These ships sailed from Greenock, on the Thames, near London, in June, 1668. The "Eagle" turned back from a point near Hudson Strait, but the "Nonsuch" proceeded and on September 29th, 1668, anchored in the South of James Bay. Then and there a fort was built and named Fort Charles, and the river flowing into the Bay was named Rupert's River. Owing to the cargo of furs brought back by the "Nonsuch" in the summer of 1669, a charter for trading rights was applied for and resulted in the charter granted by King Charles the Second, on May 2nd, 1670, to Prince Rupert and his associates forming the "Governor and Company of Adventurers of England Trading into Hudson's Bay." And thus began the great Company.

The exhibit includes a large number of important and exceedingly interesting documents and maps, as well as a large collection of tools, household utensils, and weapons of by-gone days.

The latter history of Western Canada is the history of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the building of which resulted in the creation of a nation west of the Great Lakes, and these two great institutions are still at work at their task of nation building, and preserving the history of Canada's past. The Canadian Pacific has also established an historic museum at Lake Wainwright, B.C., in memory of David Thompson, the explorer of the Rockies.

BULLETIN FROM PROVINCIAL GOVT.

Has Resigned

A. J. H. Donahoe, who since its formation has been a member of the provincial equalization assessment board, has resigned, and will remove to Kelowna, B. C. He has for years been prominent in rural municipal affairs and was a farmer in southern Alberta. Creamery short course at the university.

The first short course for the current year was given at the University of Alberta, Department of Dairying, during the period January 8th-19th last. Twenty-one students registered, eighteen of whom were regular attendants.

A second two weeks' course of a similar character is now being offered and will commence Monday morning March 12th, 1925. The work in the classroom and laboratory will cover some of the most fundamental aspects of creamery work and management. The term management is used here in the larger sense, as good management of a business requires that each individual performs his own particular work as well as it can and should be done. To that extent each employee in an institution has an important influence on the total results of its management.

The course will deal with both the theory and practice of the commercial testing and grading of milk, cream and butter; the churning, salting, working and packing of butter. An opportunity will also be given to competent students to qualify for license under the Dairymen's Act.

The course is primarily designed for persons who have had some practical experience in creamery work and who may wish to spend a short time in the systematic study of its more important phases.

Anyone interested should apply to the department of Dairying University of Alberta or to the Dairy Commissioner, Department of Agriculture, for folder giving further particulars.

New Irrigation District

The latest irrigation district to be formed is the New West district, near Kelowna. Government guarantee of bonds is to be given to this district for the irrigation of about 4,500 acres in a total acreage of 8,000 in the district. The debenture guarantee will be for $140,000. This district is already settled with practical farmers, so that there will be no colonization problem.

Research Council

The annual report of the Alberta scientific and industrial research council shows that research work during the past year covered investigations on fuel, road materials, salt at McMurray, forest products, coal samples, etc. A good deal of geological work was also done under the auspices of the council. The report states that there is no evidence to justify the expectation that oil and gasoline can be extracted from the McMurray tar sands in commercial quantities, the use of these tar sands being confined to road making material. Experiments were carried on in the direction of the extraction of the bitumen from the tar sands.

The personnel of the research council is as follows: Chairman, Premier Greenfield; Dr. H. M. Tory, John T. Stirling, Prof. J. A. Allen, N. C. Pitcher, and Prof. Stansfield. Six meetings of the council were held during the year.

Some Work on Land

Reports come from Lacombe and from Taber in southern Alberta to the effect that one or two farmers were able to do some discing on the land during the recent warm weather when the snow practically all disappeared from the open fields.

New Industry at Medicine Hat

A new industry for the manufacture of farm implements has been established at Medicine Hat, according to a statement of the secretary of the chamber of commerce of that city.

Successful Agricultural Meetings

Well attended and otherwise successful meetings for farmers have been held recently throughout southern Alberta by Prof. James Murray and M. L. Freng, district agriculturalists. Mr. Freng reports that the farmers in the southern districts are gradually creating a more permanent basis of farming through diversification. A keener interest is being shown in dairying also.

Public Health Report

Though there was a decrease in infectious diseases in the province during the year 1924, as compared with 1923, Dr. Laidlaw deputy minister of health in the annual report of the department of health, comments on the fact that a very small percentage of cases are ever reported, particularly in country districts. He urged the importance of reporting all such diseases. He also comments on the neglect shown toward whooping cough, many people evidently thinking this is a mild disease. The fact that there were 44 deaths from this disease, is deplorable, however, says Dr. Laidlaw. With respect to diphtheria, he urges the importance of treatment with antitoxin which can be had from the provincial laboratory at Edmonton or from sub-stations at Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat. Each local board of health is supposed to keep a supply of this antitoxin on hand. The percentage of deaths from diphtheria when antitoxin is given the first day is only 0.32, while percentage of deaths when treatment is given the fourth day is 11.03, and after the fourth day 21.03.

Hospitals

A total of 61 hospitals was operated in the province during the year, and $256,455.50 was paid in grants.

The report of the municipal hospitals branch points out that general conditions in the province did not lend themselves to the formation of hospital districts, but nevertheless the municipal hospital plan is growing in favor. Four municipal hospitals were opened during the year of Provost, Viking, Hainar and Athabasca. M. Whiston in his report comments on the rates charged at hospitals other than municipal, particularly the smaller institutions, saying that generally speaking they are higher than the ordinary individual can afford to pay. He comments also on the general looseness with which affairs of such institutions are conducted, with respect to keeping of financial records, and he urges greater co-operation with the hospital branch in remedying this condition and in cutting down costs.

Mental Defectives

There were 29 male patients and 23 female patients in the home for mentally deficient during the year. There are 225 applications awaiting the opening of the new home at Oliver, two units of which with accommodation for 200 patients, will be ready shortly.

The Asylum

At Ponoka during the year there were 253 admissions and 147 patients discharged, of which 85 were stated as recovered and 44 more improved. The percentage of cures among male patients was 30.67 and among female patients was 38.88.

Vital Statistics

There were 14,456 births year, 991 less than in 1923 decrease being recorded. There were 4,218 marriages than in 1921, half the decrease being recorded in Calgary of deaths was 5,114, an 1921 of 210.

Veneral Diseases

These clinics, maintained by Calgary and Medicine Hat, accomplished splendid results in the year. Eighty-seven patients, Calgary, and 32 in Medicine Hat. In addition, 6 of the jails were examined to be infected cases of syphilis and gonorrhea were treated.

Lessee

There is a lease, how out, and the sandy district is the hopper during the latter part

Summer. Favored by an open fall, this species laid more than its usual complement of eggs. The area covered by the invasion of this species appears to be the south eastern portion of the province as far north as the Goose Lake line, being specially in evidence in the extensive sandy area north of Medicine Hat and along the line from Hanna to Steepleville.

Mr. Strickland states that scouts should be in the field before the end of May to examine and report on all fields that are infested. These are a serious menace to all within ten miles since the hoppers will migrate in July to fields of grain and reduce the yields from one to five bushels an acre. Mr. Strickland also urges that proposed summer fallow land should be cultivated as soon as possible, while the soil is still moist, the field being plowed from the edges toward the centre, thus herding the hoppers together in the unplowed strips, where they can be poisoned before plowing is finished. He also urges that arrangements be made by municipal or other authorities for the burning over of all vacant territory over of all vacant territory after the hoppers have hatched in the spring and before there is too much green growth. Precautions for farmers in the sandy areas are suggested as follows: Flow well and deeply all stubble fields to be seeded this spring.

See that all vacant land in the district is well scouted for young hoppers during the last week in May. Work all infested summer-fallow from the edges inward. Driving of hoppers onto neighbors' fields is liable to bring penalty under The Pest Act.

Organize campaign to burn over all deserted fields found infested, at the end of May.

Roadside Hopper

This species says Mr. Strickland, has increased in the north, in districts along the C. and E. to Edmonton, and east to the Saskatchewan boundary, and north to the main line of the C. N. R. Farmers in these districts did not heed warnings to the extent necessary last year to prevent a spread of this species and Mr. Strickland issues a special warning to the farmers in these districts to examine all possible breeding grounds during the latter part of May as it is only at this time it is possible to eradicate the pest entirely before it is established in new territory.

Report on Banking

Prof. McGibbon's report on banking and credit in the province in relation to the agricultural industry was made available to the members of the legislature the past week. Prof. McGibbon recommends strongly against a provincial bank, but urges that certain improvements in the banking situation should be made. Vigorous criticism of credit conditions is offered. With respect to a provincial bank, Prof. McGibbon believes that there are insurmountable difficulties in the way of the establishment of such a bank, such as the obtaining of capital at a sufficiently lower rate to enable it to provide cheaper credit.

Prof. McGibbon in his conclusion expresses the opinion that the charter banks have been a great agency in the development of the new province. He shipments, riding on trains with intent to escape payment of fares, and other offenses.

A motion to get into committee of supply is now on the order paper in the name of Mr. Brownlee.

Amendments to The Produce Merchants Act introduced by Mr. Hoadley serve to define more clearly the terms produce and produce merchant. The minimum amount of bond for a produce merchant is reduced to $500 and the minimum license fee to $5.

MONUMENT AND TABLET FOR PORT MONCTON

Ottawa, Ont.—The historic site of Port Moncton at the mouth of the Gaspereau river, near Port Egin, N. B., known before the year 1755 as Port Gaspereau, and one of the strongholds of French Acadia, is to be redeemed from oblivion by the erection of a monument and tablet bearing record of the historic interest of the site. The capture of Port Gaspereau and Beauséjour by the British and New England forces was the prelude to the fall of Acadia as a French colony and was immediately succeeded by the dispersal of the Acadians. Beyond a few soldier's graves there is little now on the site of Port Moncton to mark the momentous events of 1755. The Canadian National Parks Branch, on the recommendation of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board, has decided to take immediate steps to place there on a permanent memorial of this ancient battle ground.

ADVANCING YEARS
CAUSE RESIGNATION
OF ANGLICAN VICAR

After a life of nearly forty years spent in the ministry of the Anglican church both in the Old Land and Canada, the vicar of St. Thomas, the Rev.
H. O'Connor Wilson, M. A., has decided to take a rest from active participation in the church work, and to this end he has forwarded his resignation to the bishop at Prince Albert, and expects to be leaving in another month or six weeks.

During the past six and a-half years during which Mr. Wilson has had charge of the congregation of St. Thomas' church he has most assuredly endeared himself to the people of the whole town and community. His ready fellowship, his genial personality, his ever-willing assistance in all good works
his patient laboring for the afflicted, and his heartfelt sympathy and complicity for those passing through bereavement have been like axioms of manhood and landmarks of citizenship.

We can almost claim (with all due respect to the many others of our citizens whose time and energies are spent in public service) that Mr. Wilson has made more use of his opportunities along the line of the following "The Golden Rule" of The Master than any other man with whom the writer has had personal contact, and the hope is expressed that he will be long spared to enjoy the seasons of his evening of life; for we know full well that at any and all times he will be at the call of his profession, which without doubt is the highest calling that can be sounded by Him who has said "As thy day so shall thy strength be."

Born in County Mayo, Ireland, in 1861, the reverend gentleman received his first education at a public school later becoming an ardent student at the Portlaoine Royal school, at Enniskill in County Fermanagh. This institution is more commonly spoken of as "The Elton of Ireland," and it was at this seat of learning that his first serious ideas of life were installed. In studies, we learn that he early excelled to such a high degree that in due time he passed on to Trinity College, Dublin, from where he graduated in 1887, taking honors in ethics, classics
English composition and history.

Mr. Wilson was at all times a man's man, entering with zest and vim into the sports as carried on at his school or college, and was the recipient on one occasion of the college Cricketer bat for the best annual average at that game.

Immediately upon graduation he was ordained by Dr. Alexander, at that time the Bishop of Derry, this solemn and impressive ceremony being performed in the bishop's own church, St. Columba's cathedral in Londonderry following which Mr. Wilson held several livings in Ireland, to all of which he was almost unanimously invited
before being installed in the vicariate.

Much against the will of his very many friends in the "Old Land" we find him coming to Canada to assist in the extension of God's kingdom on earth, and he arrived at Prince Albert in 1908, where for some time he held the appointment of superintendent of missions for the diocese there, and at a later date he was for three years the incumbent of St. James' church, Sackatoon, which has a large and influential congregation. While in that city, Mr.

Wilson was the acting vicar, him for the "St. C. M. R." and the 65th Regt., both of which fighting units hold him in high esteem.

In November, 1916, he came to Wainwright, and has been the vicar of St.
Thomas' church right up till the present, but feeling that his health should be his first consideration, he is desirous of removing to the B. C. coast or Vancouver Island and there probably he will make his home until such time
as he can arrange to return to the land of his nativity—the land he still loves with a deep rooted affection.

Garden crops such as tomatoes, cabbage, lettuce and celery, can be greatly advanced in the spring by the use of hotbeds. On the farm the making of such a bed is a simple matter because of the presence of manure of a suitable kind. Whereas the greenhouse has to depend on steam heating for the necessary warmth, the heat for a hot-bed is secured from that arising from fresh manure. The hotbed may be placed on top of the ground or in an excavation. However, plan is decided, the site chosen should drain so as not to permit water to stand. If the below ground plan is adopted the soil should be taken out to a depth of about 18 inches and for about three feet wider than the frame, so that there may be room for banking up outside the frame.
The banking is very important as it conserve the heat. Horse manure is the best. It should be turned once or twice, and should be quite hot and ready for use in five or six days.

To support the glass sash, a simple frame should be made of two-inch planks. It should be so constructed that it may be raised if the plants get too close to the glass. To provide for the shedding of rain, the back of the frame should be six inches higher than the front.

When building the bed, the manure should be shaken so that the long and short particles are well mixed. Tramp well as each layer is added, until a depth of two to two and a half feet is secured. The frame is then in position and six or six inches more manure is shaken in. Good garden soil to the depth of six inches should now be placed over the manure, and the sash put on. In five or six days the hotbed will be ready for the seed. A thermometer should be used and the temperature of the soil should not exceed 80 degrees. The seedling should be done in rows about four inches apart as it would in the open ground
later in the season.

More complete instructions for handling the cold frame and the plants
themselves are contained in Exhibition Circular No. 16, obtainable from the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

THE FROG LAKE MASSACRE

Ottawa, Ont.—The Canadian National Parks Branch of the Department of the Interior propose to include in their historic sites series the cemetery
at Frog Lake, situated about ten miles north of the Saskatchewan river and forty-two miles from Lloydminster where occurred the most tragic incident of the Rebel rebellion of 1885, the massacre of the officials of the Indian Department and of the priests of the Roman Catholic mission by the Indians under the chief, Big Bear. In 1906 the bodies of the victims were removed from their various burial places by the Northwest Mounted police into a small cemetery nearby where each grave was marked with an iron cross bearing the name of the victim and the date of the disaster. It is now proposed to mark the site in more permanent fashion by some form of memorial which will bear the standard bronze tablet of the Canadian National Historical Sites and testify to the national care of the burial places of these unfortunate victims of the Northwest Rebellion.

Railway News

Vancouver.—The C. P. R. have taken the lead in employing white laborers in preference to Orientals, 50 men being sent to Revelstoke division for track work through the Provincial employment bureau at Vancouver.

This step was a result of a conference recently between J. H. McVey, superintendent of the employment bureau, and F. W. Peters, general superintendent of the C. P. R. western district.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has made arrangements for the convenience of the travelling public whereby they may insure their baggage and personal effects while travelling by land or sea in any part of the world.

Policies cover the property of the insured against all risks of rail and water transportation, including theft and pilferage wherever the insured goods may be, except while in the normal residence of the assured person.

Persons travelling may secure policies from the agents of the C. P. R. at the principal stations throughout Canada and the United States.

In addition the policies will be on sale in the baggage rooms at: Bran-
den, Regina, Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, Alta.; Windsor, Ont.
and Place Viger Station, Montreal;
Moore, Sask.; Quebec Station,
Quebec, Que.; Regina, Sask.; Toronto, Ont.; Vancouver Station
and Wharf, B. C.; Winnipeg, Man., and Fort William, Ont.

One hundred and sixty-six of the passengers aboard the Canadian Pacific liner "Montrose," on her last voyage from Liverpool to Montreal have addressed a letter to Mr. G. M. Bosworth, Chairman of the Canadian Pacific Steamships Limited, expressing their appreciation of the new liner. The letter reads:

"On the occasion of the maiden trip of the R.M.S. "Montrose," we, Liverpool to Montreal passengers, from the U.N.S. to Canadian ports, desire to express our great appreciation of the beauty and extreme comfort of the ship in all its details and arrangements for both private and public use.

"We also desire to place on record
our great satisfaction with the courtesy, kindness, and never-failing efforts on the part of the Commandant, Officers and Crew to make this voyage one of real pleasure.

"The catering and general service have been as usual, up to and exceeding C. P. R. standards.

"We therefore beg to congratulate the Company on having such a steamer as the "Montrose" added to its fleet and ourselves on having had the privilege of taking part in its maiden voyage."

The first Trans-Canada C. P. R.
train of the season left Windsor Street Station, Montreal, at 5 p.m.
Sunday, May 21st, and left Toronto
at 8 p.m. on the same day.

This special train, carrying standing and sleeping car equipment only,
and making the fastest time between terminals of any trans-continental train in America, leaves Montreal, Windior Street Station at 5:00 p.m., and Toronto Union Station at 8:00 a.m., Eastern Standard Time daily, consuming 88 hours between Toronto and Vancouver, and 92 hours between Montreal and Vancouver.

The schedules are so arranged that the train passes through all important points (commercial or tourist) at most convenient hours of entraining or detraining, and during the portion of the trip through the Canadian Rockies open observation cars from Field to Revelstoke are special features. There is no extra charge made for this feature by Canadian Pacific.

Although this is the only de-luxe
train run in Canada in which sleeping car passengers are carried, there is no extra fare required to travel on same.

With the assumption of the fall
summer trans-continental service
the Canadian Pacific will have at 8:00 a.m. every day thirty-six transcontinental trains moving on its rails at various points between Montreal and Vancouver (and 58 dining cars are serving breakfast)
among which are included eight
"Trans-Canada" trains—of all this fast fleet of high class trains the Trans-Canada is the "Premier Train."

The Trans-Canada is in addition to the "Vancouver Express" now operating, making two trans-continental trains daily between Toronto and Vancouver. Travelling by the Trans-Canada a business day is saved on the trans-continental trip as the business man has had his breakfast and is ready for business the morning in Winnipeg, the third morning in Calgary, and the fourth morning in Vancouver. The Canadian Pacific will this summer
have four trans-continental trains
each way every day over the mountain route.

Interesting Local Notes

After several weeks spent at the coast, Mr. R. A. Snyder returned home last week end. Bob reports business there as "not so bad", but he was tickled to get back home all the same!

"It is gratifying to learn that Mrs. Hartley Richardson, who has suffered a severe attack of pneumonia is now somewhat better from her illness."

The Burning Question!—What was the cause of the fire? Origin unknown. Many claim forms show this answer: Do not leave yourself open to chance—be secure. Ask about a policy in one of the old-time companies who have adjusted losses satisfactorily for nearly a century—F. G. Cope, box 138, Phone 80.

Mr. T. J. Suggs, of the British Petroleum Co., spent a few days over the week end, reports himself well satisfied with the progress being made at the oil well north of town.

Ward off the flu, and keep fit by taking our special brand of cod liver oil extract with hypophosphites and wild cherry. Gerow's drug store.

Sympathies are expressed to Mr. P. Dewar who is sick in the hospital with a siege of pneumonia.

After a couple of weeks visiting friends in town Miss Matthews left for her home at Jarow on Tuesday morning.

Mr. C. Redgwell has suffered another attack of sickness which has kept him in bed for the most of the week. He is able to be up now.

The epidemic of colds, etc., which seems to be visiting our district has most assuredly depleted the attendance at the school, in some cases less than one-half of the class pupils being able to attend.

Dr. Wallace who was in Edmonton for a few days returned home on Thursday last.

Let us have your orders for bulk seeds now so we can bring them in by freight and save you money.—Wainwright Pharmacy

Mrs. Ernie Cummings and children from Edmonton, are guests at the home of Mrs. S. R. Bowerman for a short stay.

We are sorry to hear of the continued sickness of Mrs. O. M. Nelson and extend hopes of her speedy recovery to complete health.

His many friends will be glad to hear that Mr. Fred Harrington is now getting along famously. Fred will soon be around again as chirpy as ever. Can't keep a good man down!

All things considered, the prices realised by Auctioneer Stuart at the McLeod sale on Saturday were fairly high, and everybody seemed well satisfied.

It seems that quite a number of horses are being shipped to eastern points. A couple of weeks ago Dor, Wiley left with a two-car shipment to Ontario. This week Mr. A. Coutts, of the Vancaster district shipped a carload at Edgerton billed to Stassburg, Sask., and we understand that horses are being shipped through here from Toileid and points west. This will revive the interest and prices in the horse-dealing business.

CHOOSING FRUIT PLANTING VARIETIES

(Experimental Farms Note)

How often has it happened in Canada that varieties of fruits, vegetables and ornamental plants are chosen blind and ordered hastily before sufficient enquiry is made as to their real merit for the special purpose desired. Quality is one of the most important things that most persons want in fruit and vegetables, and beauty in flowers, and with the many fine varieties of each now available there is no good reason why such a want should not be satisfied.

There are now many Experimental Farms and Stations in Canada, covering most of the marked climatic conditions found there, and Agricultural College Farms as well, and at all of these places it is the endeavor of the staff to find out by experiment what are the best things, and then to recommend these to the people in the particular district that each one serves, now this information is free for the asking and it full advantage had been taken of these institutions in the past, there would have been much greater satisfaction than there is and many thousands of dollars would have been saved also by those who planted fruit trees which, later, were winter-killed; for hardiness is ever more important than quality. In regard to quality, a more unbiased judgment can be obtained from the Experimental Station, or College than from those who have the varieties for sale. It often happens that when a tree comes into bearing, or a vegetable is ready for the table, there is much disappointment in the quality, and this experience could be improved to a large extent if varieties recommended by the Experimental Stations were chosen. Again, in regard to ornamental plants, it is quite natural that those having these plants for sale, should bring into prominence or possibly somewhat exaggerate the strong points of a plant of only a moderate degree of merit in order that the chances of sale be improved, whereas it may not be worthy of being placed on the list of best varieties of that particular kind of plant. It lists of best varieties as tested out at the Stations were consulted before ordering much greater satisfaction would be obtained.

In choosing varieties to plant, it is usually desirable to have those which will extend the season the longest, and by a judicious selection of early, medium, and late sorts the season of most of the fruits and vegetables can be much lengthened over what it will be if this is not carefully worked out.

What Is a Farmer?

A correspondent has furnished us with the following interesting and amusing description of a farmer, and which he declares is a "speaking like ness"—

A farmer is a capitalist who labors.

A parrot who is asked to produce at a loss.

A man who works eight hours twice a day.

A man who has every element of nature to combat every day in the year.

A man who is a biologist, an economist, and a lot more is.

Who gives more and asks less than any other human being.

Who takes unto himself for his own sustenance and that of his own family those of his products which other people will not purchase.

Who gives his boys and girls to the big cities to infuse red blood into a society that is constantly decadent and whose only salvation is the virility it draws from the rural sections.

Who is taxed more and represented less than any other citizen.

Who sells his produce for what the other fellow cares to pay for it, and buys the other fellow's products for what the other fellow cares to charge for them.

Who is caricatured on the stage and in the daily papers but who can come nearer taking hold of any business and making it go than any other man alive and in captivity.

That's what a farmer is! —Ex.
